

The RSPCA in PAPUA NEW GUINEA

The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is a charitable organization committed to promotion of the welfare of 'all creatures great and small' through -

- ◆ The prevention of cruelty to all animals
- ◆ The promotion of responsible ownership and management of all animals
- ◆ The education of all people into the needs and care of all animals -
 - ❖ pets or companion animals
 - ❖ commercial or farmed animals
 - ❖ working and performing animals
 - ❖ wild creatures, either in captivity or in the wild

The RSPCA of PNG believes all animals have the right to:

- ◆ freedom from hunger or thirst
- ◆ freedom from exposure to excessive heat or cold
- ◆ freedom from disease
- ◆ freedom from pain and suffering
- ◆ freedom to move and behave normally

The RSPCA of PNG runs the RSPCA Veterinary Clinic at Waigani to provide veterinary care and assistance to all animals. The RSPCA Veterinary Clinic is a non profit organization; all proceeds going towards the animal welfare and education programmes.

The RSPCA will pursue reported cases of cruelty to animals and, if necessary, prosecute offenders under part IV of the Animals Act. Rescued and abandoned animals are taken into the RSPCA Shelter and when necessary nursed back to health, before being offered for re-homing.

The RSPCA Veterinary Clinic offers boarding facilities for all animals, and will assist with re-homing animals when owners are no longer able to take care of them. All cats and dogs offered for adoption by the RSPCA will have been de-sexed, vaccinated and treated for internal and external parasites.

Annual membership of the RSPCA costs a minimum of K15.00 for single and K20.00 for family membership, but larger amounts as donations are much appreciated. Junior membership (for children under 16) is free. Members promote the work and policies of the RSPCA in the community, and help to prevent cruelty to animals by reporting neglect or mistreatment. Join the RSPCA and help.
